

TIMM WOOLLEY

Born in Herefordshire. Graduated with a BA in Business Studies and became Fellow of the Institute of Chartered Accountants. Pretends to be only 30 in spite of distinguished career in accountancy, auditing and financial consultancy.

Is now Tour Organiser and Administrator on a full-time basis for Tull, having worked periodically with the band since '79.

Lives in London, enjoys looking cleaner and smarter than everyone else and has difficulty in persuading any of us to accompany him to the nearest disco.

Likely to shudder at the merest mention of Snipe bog.

KENNY WYLIE

Born and educated in Scotland. Worked for various bands as road manager before joining Jethro Tull in '75 as roadie to Ian Anderson.

Was given option of being fired or promoted and, in a single grave error of judgement, opted for the latter. He is now Stage Manager and is responsible for all equipment, crew deployment, their transportation and accommodation.

He is married, lives in London and in his spare time enjoys catching a few minutes sleep.

DAVE 'THE DOCTOR' MORRIS

Born a very long time ago (before Martin) in Kent. Schooled in Leicestershire and at London University where he graduated with a BSc Honours in electronics. He joined Tull in '73 and was given the job as kangaroo in the film clip from 'Passion Play'. He later became the front half of a zebra on the Warchild' tour and finally opened the show himself as a policeman.

Between costume changes he is the Chief

Technician and responsible for all maintenance and running repairs. Armed with all manner of expensive maintenance and test equipment, he claims still to carry out most of his delicate electronic surgery using a favourite hammer.

Dave Morris once went to hire a Hertz rent-a-car and rented-the-girl instead, to whom he is now married. In his spare time he pilots light aircraft.

BAZ MARSHALL

Basii, as he hates to be called, can't remember being born or educated, but the odds are that at least one of those events took place.

Stage, tour and production management duties for various famous bands came his way and he now works full-time for Tull as Tour Manager and head of security.

He is known for his peculiar gait, resembling a very large duck paddling upstream, and is suitably intimidating to young and spotty keyboard players who have a tendency to rise late.

Baz is very good to his family, almost never going home, and enjoys shooting, weighing and drinking other peoples port.
